
UNITY IMPLIES ONENESS, ESPECIALLY OF WHAT IS
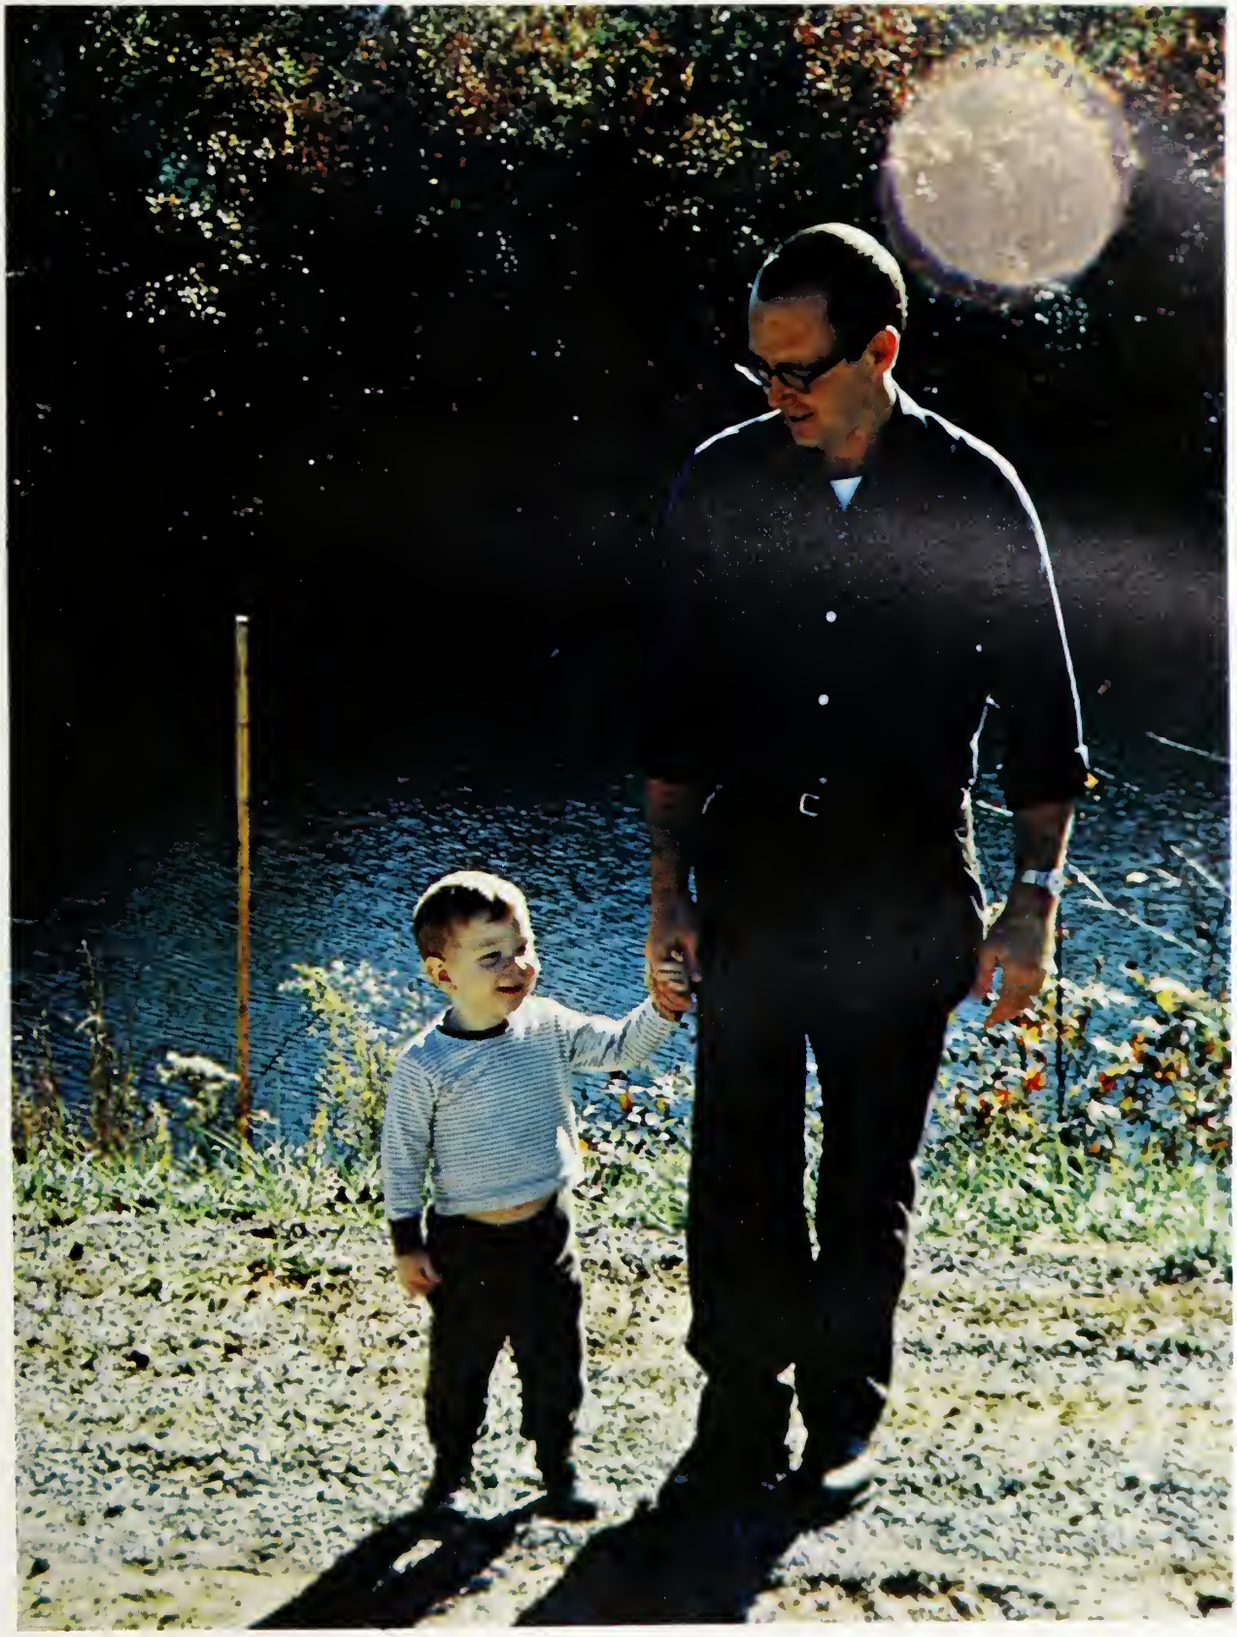
VARIED AND DIVERSE
IN ITS ELEMENTS OR PARTS



If you touch me soft and gentle
If you look at me and smile at me
If you listen to me talk sometimes before you talk
I will grow, really grow.

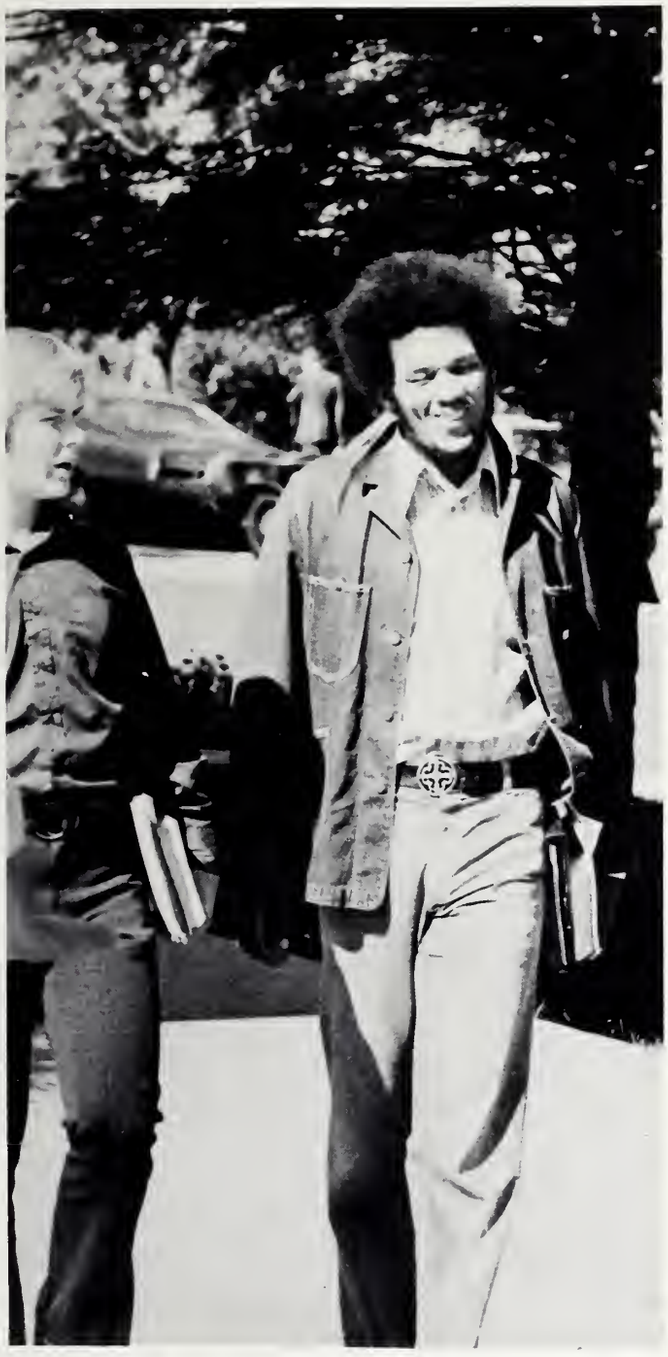
Bradley (age 9)
From Born to Wi

I tried to be what I thought you wanted and I lost myself.

You hear only what I say
and you think you know me.
You understand and accept me
only insofar as I am like you.
If you listen
and hear what I am saying inside
you will know me.

I was not made to be you.
I was made to be me.

This is me.
This is what I made.
This is what I am.



It takes courage to choose authenticity over approval,
and to choose it over and over again,
courage to accept the responsibility for your own choices, courage to be the very unique person you really are.

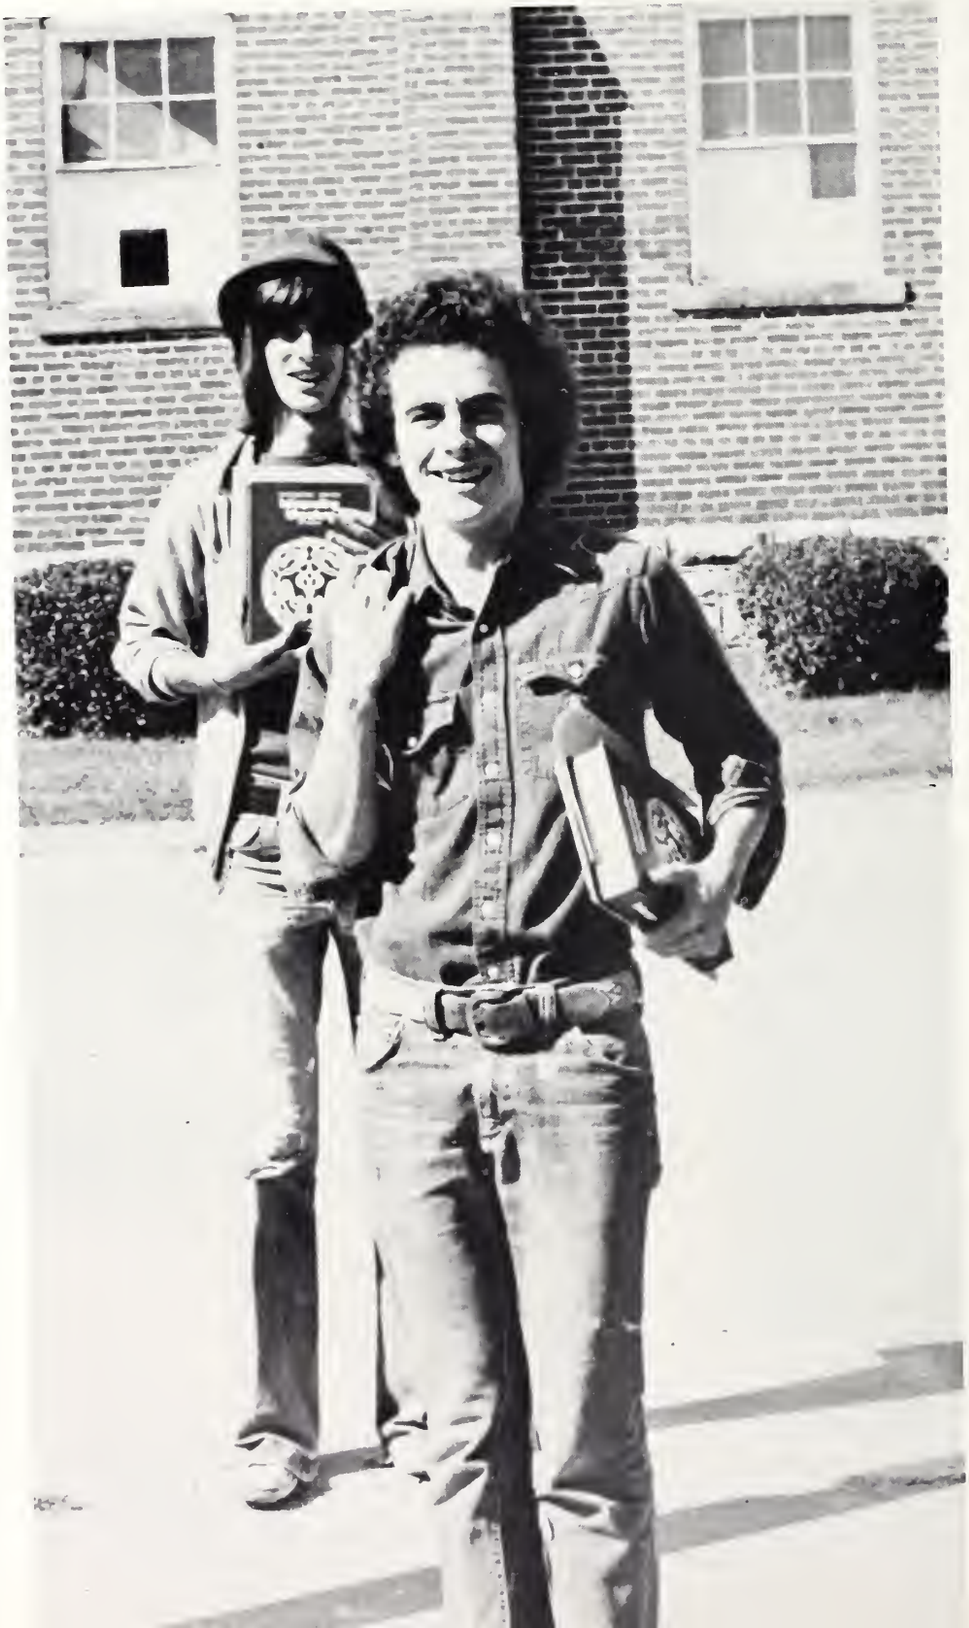
Born to Win



Each human being is born as something new, something that never existed before. He is born with what he needs to win at life. Each person in his own way can see, hear, touch, taste, and think for himself. Each has his own unique potentials—his capabilities and limitations. Each can be a significant, thinking, aware, and creatively productive person in his own right—a winner!

Born to Win

Humanity
is a brilliant river
singing its way
and carrying with it
the mountain's secrets
into the heart of the sea.

It is not uniformity
that we seek here but unity.

If, amid the accepted beliefs,
the strictly defined routines,
we have weakly followed only the patterns
of pre-accepted notions,
we are losing.

But if we are in the process of responding authentically, genuinely to what we find to be our true selves;
if we are learning to respect the selfhood
and accomplishments of other people, we are winning.

And, finally, if together we are encouraging in each other the hope of "becoming" uniquely and in our own way winning persons, we are beginning to learn the fundamentals of unity.

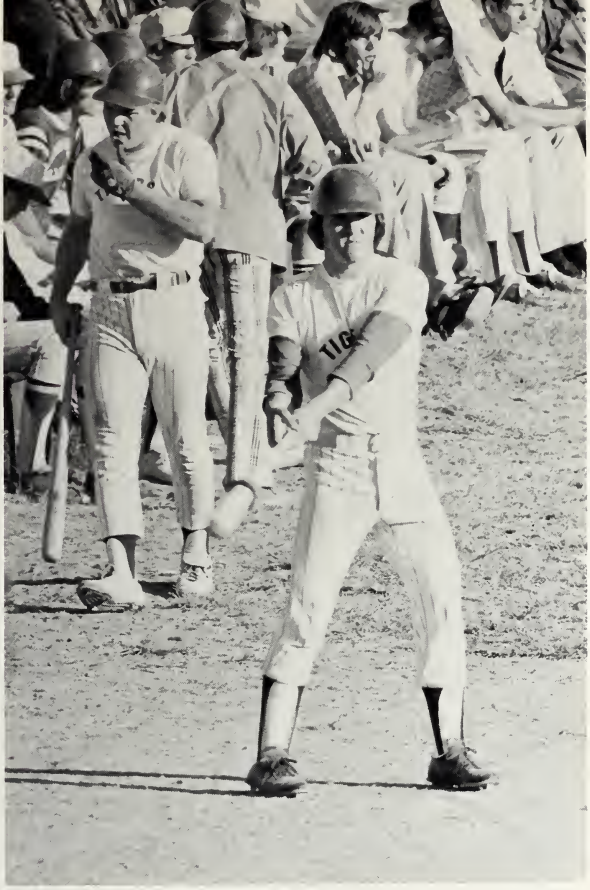
Student Life

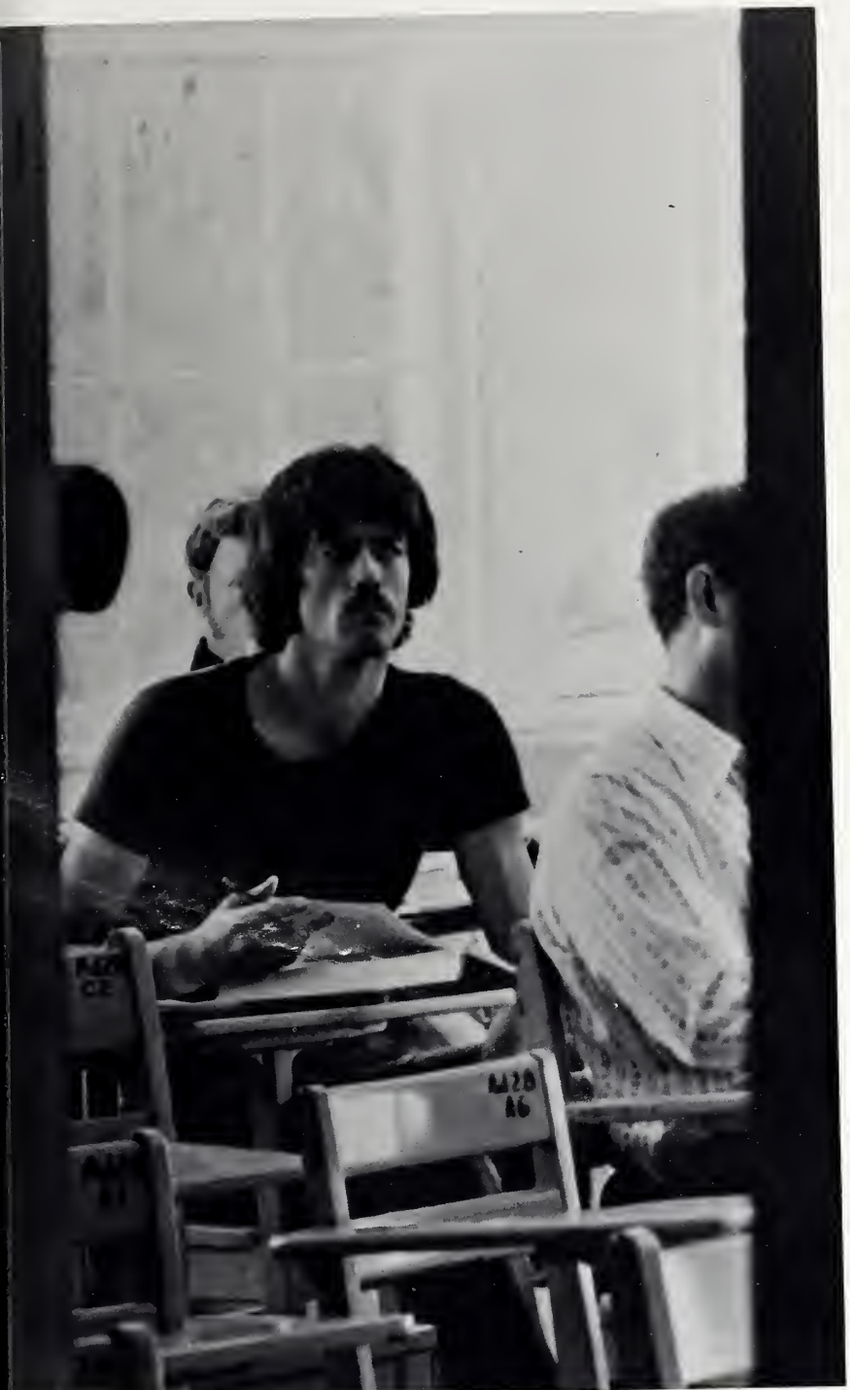
LIFESTYLES VARY

No one of us is left untouched by the popular concept of mass production—the idea that progress is made by increasing the output in the shortest amount of time. And the individual must struggle to save his identity.

In a college atmosphere where similar schedules are followed by faculty and students every day, genuine creativity requires discipline. Our business here is not to produce in numbers but to produce in people a desire to become themselves.



What is student life?
Student life is not a few important days out of a year.
Student life is everyday.
Student life is going to class.
Student life is cutting class.
Student life is dressing like you want to.
Student life is being responsible.
Student life is sometimes not being responsible.
Student life is individual.
It's what a student is—everyday.



EXIT

Freshmen: A Renewal of Optimism

A larger freshman class hit Campbellsville this year with an unusual abundance of energy and enthusiasm. Refusing to be intimidated they stormed Freshman Week as they met every challenge the seniors had to offer. The excitement of the new year was not lost with the week but continued throughout the semester as the new students continued to reinforce their "we're glad we're here" attitude. Serving as a mirror the freshman class reflects a positive optimism that is becoming an increasingly vital part of Campbellsville College.

Mornings

There is an everlasting problem of getting up in the morning that plagues every campus and we are no exception. Eight o'clock classes are usually chosen only when there is no other way out.

Some of us, however, decided that early morning was here to stay and so finally adjusted to the seven o'clock alarm. To that minority of students whose determination is stronger than sleep we dedicate these two pages.

Nights

We have more freedom at night than during the day. What we decide to do with those unrestricted hours is varied. There are some of us who use this time for recreation—swimming, shooting baskets, playing volleyball. Lobbies are more popular and T.V.'s are kept busy.

There are special nights for entertainment—ball games and coffee houses. But most of the nights here are routine. And those of us who plan to stay decide that night time is a very good time to study.

Eating .

Campbellsville shares a common trait with every other college campus. With her students eating is a hobby. Especially in the evenings, eating in dorm rooms is a full-time happening.

The snack bar has its shining hour at noon when commuters and staff decide it has been a very long morning. And despite continuous complaints even the cafeteria continues to be a popular place to break from work and visit friends.

Weather

The weather in Campbellsville is crazy. We have spring weather in December and monsoons in January. There were some beautiful snows the first of the spring semester but in between there was just a dreary mess.

We have a way of letting weather control us. If it's raining hard we say it's too messy out for class. If the sun's shining we think about the lake and swimming and . . . If it's snowing we say it only snows once in a while and we need a break.

The weather here is anything but consistent and predictable. Even those of us who have been here awhile can't seem to get adjusted.

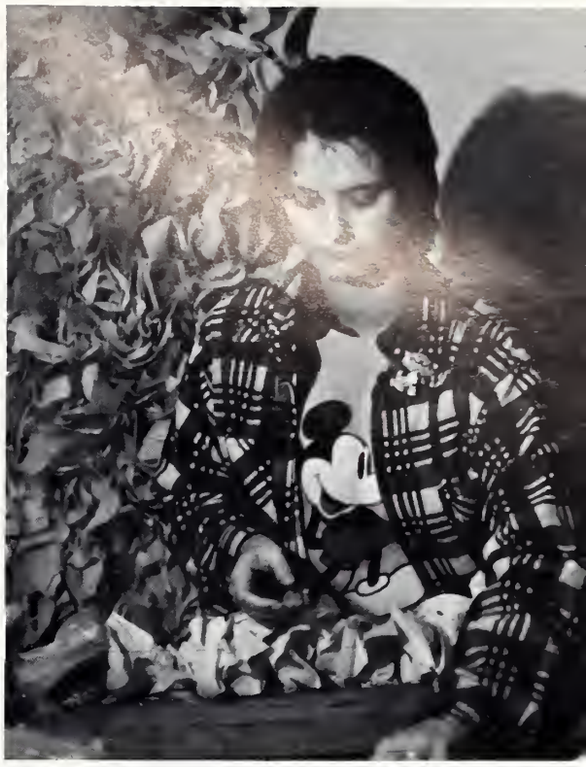
Off-Campus

A large number of Campbellsville college students are commuters. Many of these town and part-time students spend little time on campus outside of class attendance. There is an element of commuters, however, making a vital contribution to college organizations, student activities and intercollegiate sports. These students are saying in a personal way that they feel they are building something important here.

Other students living on campus work at part-time jobs spending large amout of their time off-campus. Carrying an extra responsibility in addition to classes they reflect a seriousness about learning that prevails at Campbellsville College.

Variety: The Expression of Homecoming 1974

Homecoming this year was floats and buggies, class skits and bonfires, soccer and basketball, concerts and even an old-fashioned church service. It was fun because we did it and it was ours. It was Campbellsville College expressing herself.



Campbellsville College, a Part of Kentucky's Heritage

Homecoming exemplified a deeper meaning this year as Campbellsville College recognized its growing responsibility to the state of Kentucky. The parade was intended to recall the past but the mood of students and alumni was optimism for today and for the future. The confusion and activity did not hide the people but rather reinforced the fact that Campbellsville College is a highly personalized institution.

Registration For Spring, The First Step

Spring semester felt new, sort of exciting, a little stiff like a new Christmas gift. It started with a lot of cold weather, snow, and one glorious Monday free from classes.

Registration must be dealt with whether freshman or senior and we all faced it again this spring. Most of us found it's not all we build it up to be, but a few students and every counselor were glad to see the week pass.

ROYAL

Academics

Campbellsville may be small but professors have outdone themselves to be certain that it is not easy. There is pride in the quality of education that a student receives here. Above all, Campbellsville College is a place for learning.

A new policy toward absences from class was practiced this year. Knowing that dismissal from class is a certainty after six unexcused absences is extra incentive to be there. And being in class is only the beginning of learning.

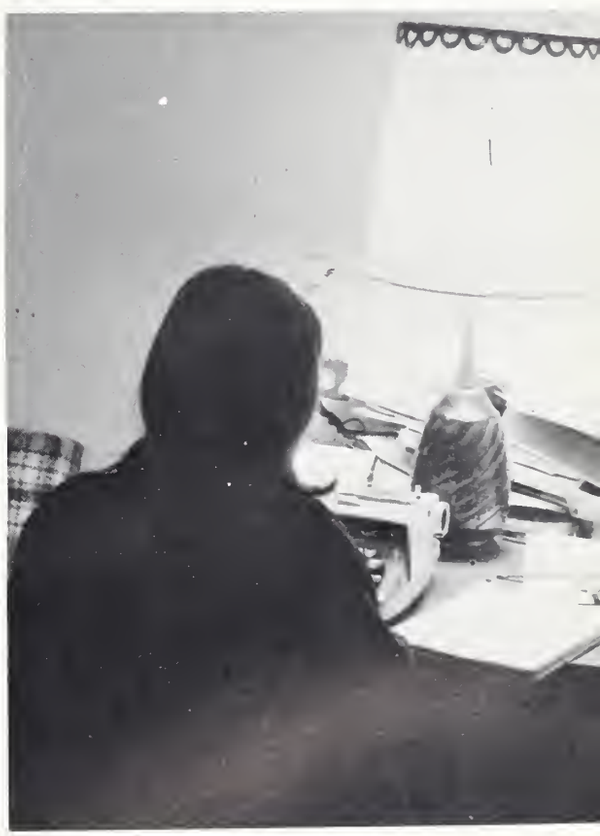
To a student the most important aspect of any department is the quality of the professors. To a professor it is most important that students respond in a positive and inquiring way to the material he presents. For a campus that is growing through learning it is important that teachers stimulate students and students challenge teachers.



Members of the Music Department from three musical performing groups. They are the Collegiate Chorale, the Concert Chorus, and the Concert Band. All three joined together to present a fall convocation of Christmas music.

The Collegiate Chorale looks forward each year to a special ten-day tour. This spring they toured Kentucky and then went South to Atlanta, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee. In December the Concert Chorus presented the "Messiah" at Campbellsville Baptist Church. Aside from concerts the Band adds spirit to home basketball games by providing half-time music.

Music

Music professors here, are perfectionists. And therefore, practice hours to a music major are just like classes—you don't skip! Good music takes steady practice.

Dorms

Women's dorms are an experience in learning about people. As the year passes a sense of community develops between friends and halls become sharing units.

Fixing a room up and making it uniquely yours is important. Rooms become centers for parties, rap sessions, late-night studying, thinking, wishing.

Living in a dorm students find that everyday spent with different kinds of people is an endless lesson in patience.

With stereos, refridgerators, hot pots and aquariums as standard equipment a men's dorm can reach the point of chaos. It becomes a necessity to learn patience and respect in dealing with your neighbors. Only with cooperation, can a man's room be a home, a place to study, a place to be alone.

Student Senate

Senators are elected to voice student's opinions about campus organizations, decisions of the college staff, problems in dorms, need of students, and in general, student attitudes about the college and its policies.

Each year the SGA plans the Homecoming activities. This year they sponsored The Exiles' concert and made preparations for the parade.

Senators are also responsible for setting the date and making plans for the Valentine banquet.

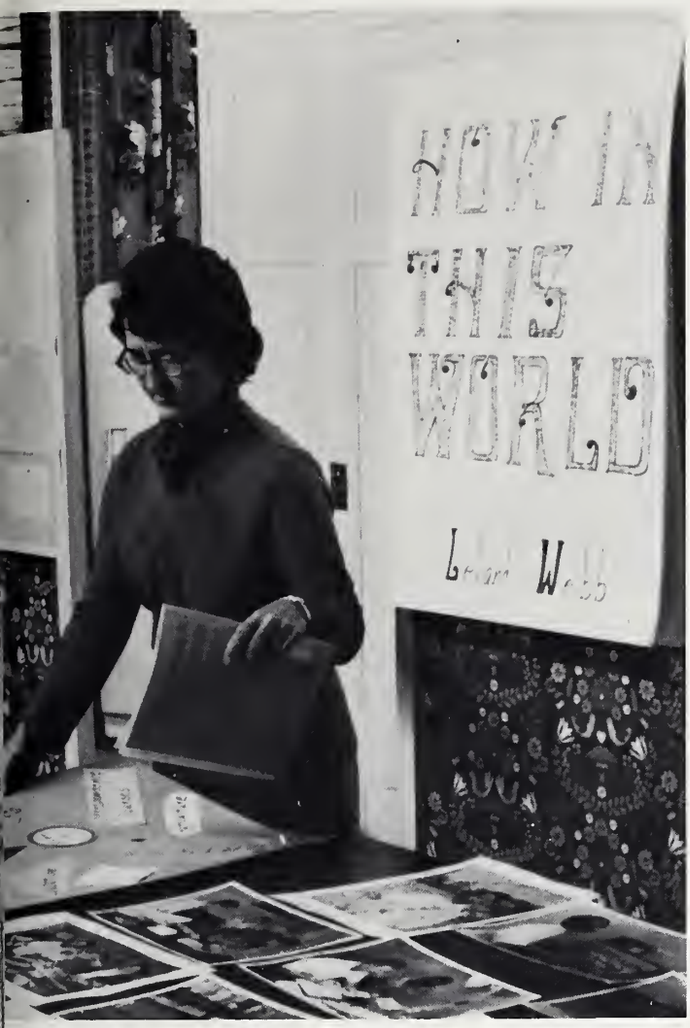
The Senate participates annually in helping to send delegates to the Model United Nations.

A large responsibility of the organization is to provide student entertainment. The SGA sponsors coffee houses, movies, buses to away basketball games and this spring helped to sponsor The Imperials in concert.

Baptist Student Union

The BSU hopes to provide an opportunity for students to share and grow in their Christian experience. Planning around the interests of students the BSU sponsors and plans a variety of activities. Each semester they present Coffee Houses, sponsor films, plan student retreats, join the BSU choir, and cooperate with the dorms in providing dorm devotions. This fall the BSU presented Randy Matthews in concert and this spring, in conjunction with the Senate sponsored The Imperials' concert.

Most importantly, the BSU works to reach people outside the college campus. Members volunteer to lead youth team ministries around the state. And this year for the first time began a weekly witness by radio.



Baptist Young Women

Baptist Young Women are concerned with studying and becoming a part of world missions. Programs and mission studies are centered on Baptist Mission work. Attempting to answer the needs around them, the BYW's work as a group to minister to people in Campbellsville. In March they help to organize and plan a State Acteen House Party. Young girls from all over Kentucky will spend a week-end in the women's dorms and become acquainted with Campbellsville and her students.

Ministerial Association

The Ministerial Association is composed of men who are planning to enter church related vocations. Their hope is to strengthen and encourage each other.

Student National Education Association

The Student National Education Association is an additional learning experience for students in the educator field. Meetings are planned to give members a better background as professional educators. Topics of special interest are those with which students are directly involved—Special Education Programs in Kentucky and the administration of public schools. The SNEA hopes to motivate members to realize the needs for better educators in Kentucky while proposing possible solutions to problems they will face in their vocation.

Music Educator's National Conference

Campbellsville's student chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference is restricted to music majors and minors. The purpose of the club is to give students a broader background as they learn from the experiences of other music educators. This spring the club participated in a "Music in Our School Day." A local music teacher in the public schools brought a group of students to perform, showing members what kinds of things children are capable of learning and what they enjoy most.

During Homecoming week the MENC presented the "Grasshopper Opperetta." Members also helped to organize and assist visiting bands marching in the Homecoming parade.

After working hard all year selling candy, the group raised enough money to send twelve members to the Kentucky-Ohio MENC Convention in February. Student and Teacher Chapters were represented. There were lectures, conferences, and musical performances.

Sigma Zeta

Sigma Zeta is a national honorary science and math society. Meetings of the organization are for learning and this year Doctors Rodgers, Shiflett, and Cheatham gave reports of their own research and learning in preparation for writing their Doctorates. The club sent a delegation to the National Convention at Central Missouri State University. They also plan a visit to Asbury's Sigma Zeta chapter to visit their computer center. During the spring semester the organization sponsors a science and math contest for high school students.

Business and Economics Club

The Business and Economics Club, and organization of teachers and business majors and minors, meets to become better acquainted and to discuss matters of common interest.

This year, the club's Homecoming candidate was Queen Tara Jasper. Their float, a miniature Louisville Downs, was chosen as the most original float in the Homecoming Parade.

The club plans a trip to the Federal Reserve Bank in Louisville this spring.

College Drill Team

Newly organized this year, the drill team performed routines to music as halftime entertainment at basketball games. Although the team did not perform for all games they did dress as a group adding a freshness of spirit to each home game.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

The FCA believes that a Christian attitude adds a deeper sense of purpose and fulfillment to sports. Weekly meetings are for fun—for sharing—for encouraging each other in sports participation.

This spring the club brought two films to the campus for the entire student body—"The Rapture" and "A Thief in the Night." Often members of the FCA volunteer to go as a group to share their testimonies with community churches.

Caution: Campbellsville Art Department!

Professors Clark and Stapp have created a department whose password is freedom in which students are given an exceptional opportunity for self expression.

ALPHA RHO TAU

An expansion of the art department, the art club is designed to stimulate student artistic achievement. In conjunction with the local Artist Guild it hopes to broaden the student's concept of artistic techniques while offering opportunities for exhibiting and selling student work. Unfortunately the club's Homecoming float, "United We Stood," was damaged by a power line just before the parade.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Delta Psi Omega honors students who have shown outstanding abilities in the fields of speech and drama.

HARLEQUINS

Although participation in a dramatic production is not limited to the Harlequins, they form the backbone of all plays presented at Campbellsville College. They are the primary force behind the less glamorous areas of play production—costuming, lighting, props and backdrops. The Harlequins helped to produce two exceptional plays this summer and fall with Gobblin' Gobblin and Bye Bye Birdie.

SUCCESS COMES TO THE STAGE

Physical Education Club

The Physical Education Club encourages interest and participation in intercollegiate and intramural athletics. During the basketball season they take on the responsibility of operating the concession stand.

Spanish Club

A very active organization, the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. Eladio Balaños, claimed first place in Homecoming floats again this year. The theme of the float was "My Old Kentucky Home."

The club sponsors a soccer game and an International Dinner each spring hoping to encourage student appreciation of foreign cultures.

Model United Nations

Each year six students are chosen as delegates to go with a faculty advisor to represent Campbellsville College at the Model United Nations held in St. Louis. Each college or university attending represents a country in the United Nations. In order to participate delegates must be well acquainted with their country and it's foreign policies. This year's meeting was held the last week of February.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club is concerned with understanding the responsibilities of citizenship by becoming acquainted with national and international problems. But perhaps more importantly for Campbellsville students, they practice an awareness of immediate needs and problems in the local community. Because of this interest the Social Science Club serves as a link between our campus and the town of Campbellsville.

The Echo

The Echo took on a new look this year with a staff completely dedicated to their publication. The student newspaper became a subject of controversy as students felt freer to express themselves and entered their own articles for publication. The Echo is not just a habit—it serves a purpose that is essential in giving students a voice that will be heard. This year's staff worked hard to present both conservative and more liberal views about campus problems.

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta is a national honorary fraternity open to all English majors and minors. Each month the club sponsors a one-hour program designed to stimulate ideas for creative expression.

Each year Sigma Tau Delta publishes Purple Patches, a magazine of student work including poetry, short stories, and photography.

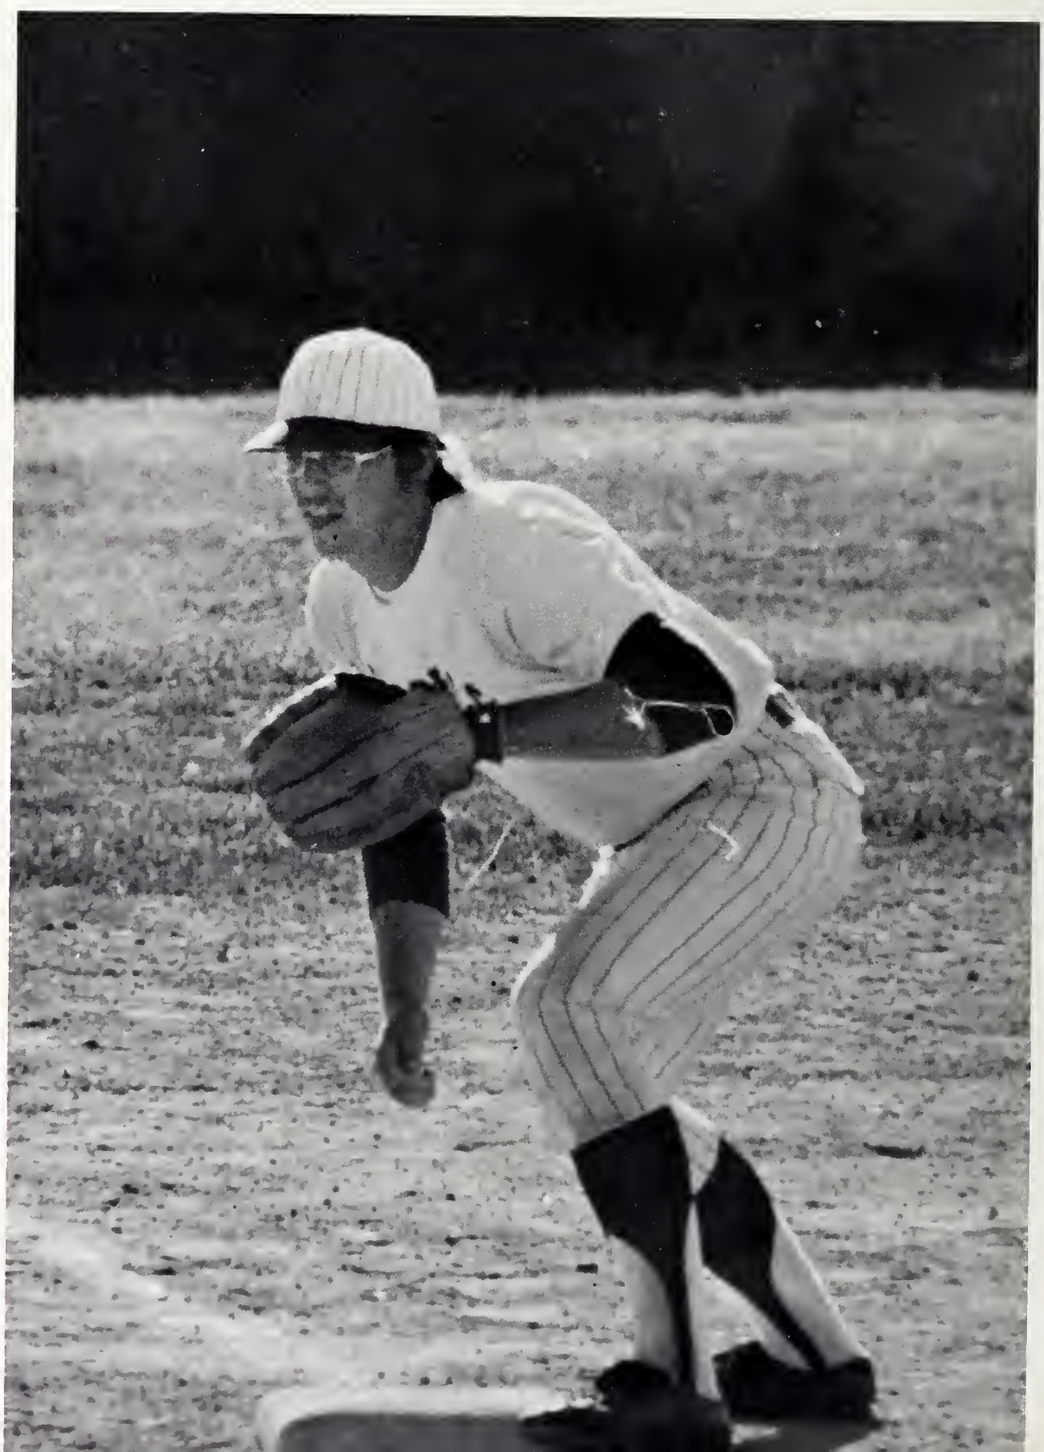
Sports

Baseball

The Tiger Baseball squad finished the fall season third in the Conference with four wins and four losses. The Conference season continued into the spring beginning in March.

The team did have the disadvantage of changing coaches between fall and spring with Mike Neal coaching in the fall and Neil Mills coaching in the spring.

The team entered the spring with greater dedication to make it a winning season.



A sense of determination toward becoming a strong team is a necessity to any successful ball club and the '74-'75 Baseball Team was just that. The team has many new members but this only strengthened their determination to prove themselves. Against both conference and non-conference teams the Tigers displayed quality and potential.

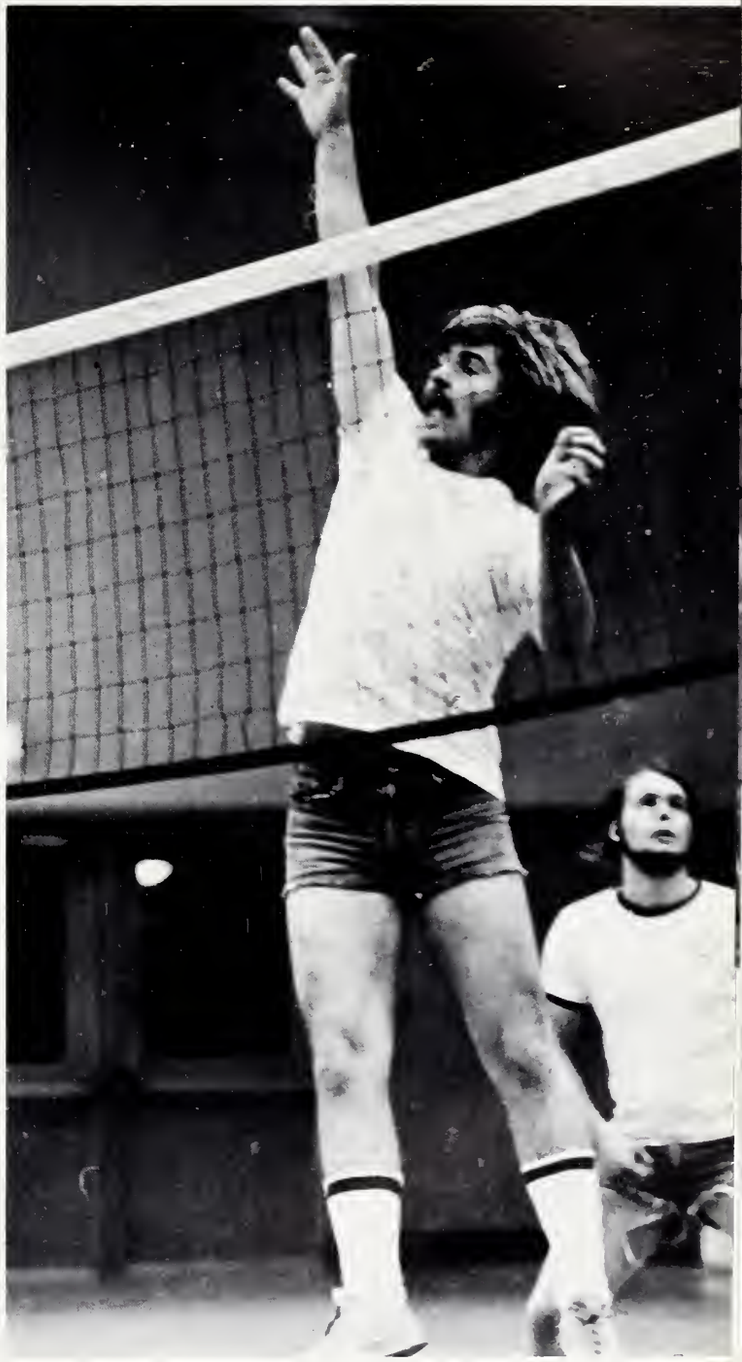
The 1974 Golf Team was undefeated in the KIAC. This was the first time the Campbellsville Golf Team had placed first in the Conference. Coach Don Bishop describes the team as consistent, competitive, and determined.

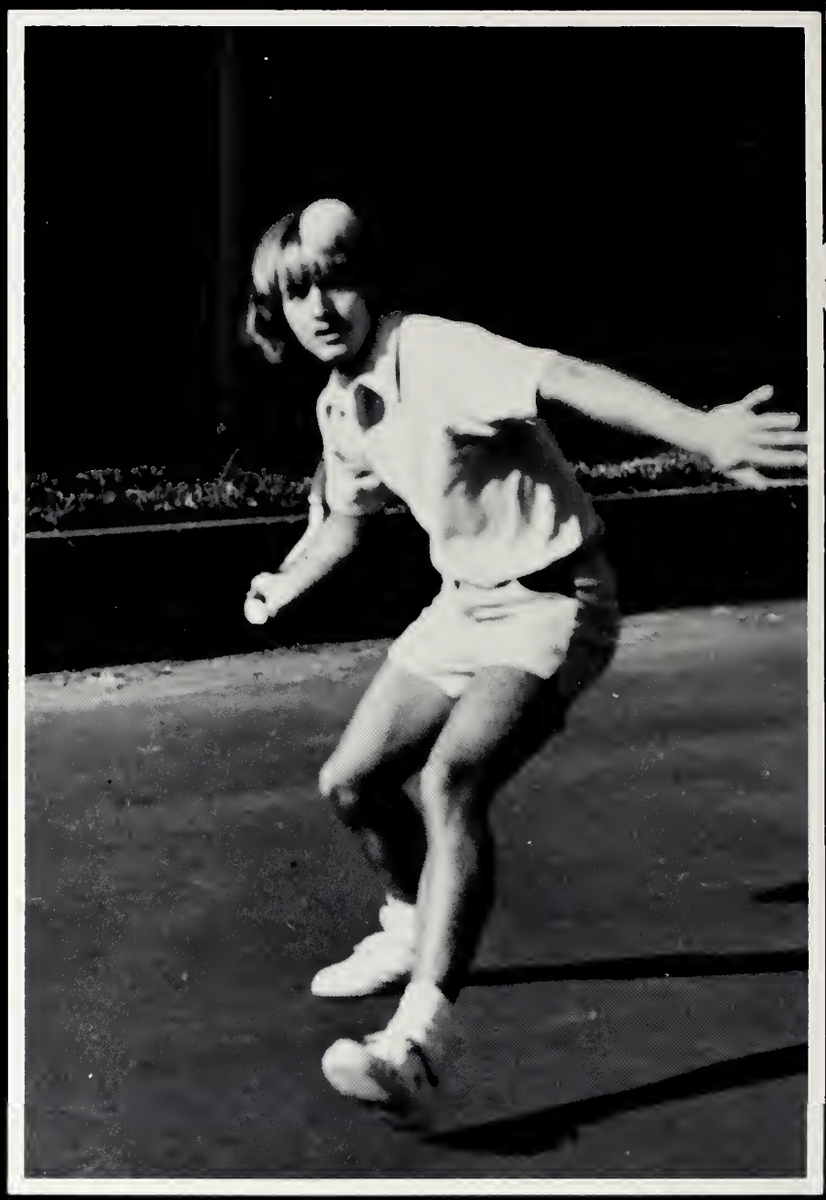
New freshmen this fall lack experience but through steady improvement are becoming assets to the team.

In the spring of '74 Mike Stone and Gran Mefford made all conference. Mike Stone won the conference individually. He also won the Campbellsville Invitational, the Georgetown Invitational and placed third in the Asbury Invitational. Gran took forth place in the Conference and placed second in the Asbury Invitational.

Intramurals Involve More Students

A strong intramural program has been developed on our campus under the direction of Dr. Robert Burns. Its basic aim is to involve more students in college sports. Response of students to the program has proven that whether it be softball, football, volleyball, or basketball every student can find his place on an Intramural team.





Tennis

Tennis is an individual sport. Competition is something personal because you alone are responsible for the outcome of your match. Only after a great deal of discipline do you find yourself winning.

Spring Season 74

With only four loses and nine wins the spring season 1974 was a winning one for Campbellsville. The team placed third in the KIAC tournament.

WINNING WOMEN

Women's Intramural Baseball

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team, under the leadership of Coach Linda Brown, opened the season with a victory over Transylvania College but then fell to Asbury and Kentucky Wesleyan. The college was well represented in the Small College Tennis Tournament held at Centre College in Danville by winning fourth position. The loss of only two senior team members should prove an important factor in the success of the 1975 team.

Women's Basketball

Women's Basketball made improvements this year with a more talented team learning to work together. The team is versitile, each member being trained to play more than one position. Coach Linda Brown expressed the opinion that this year's team had displayed more skill in handling the ball and in shooting. There is a new sense of confidence and purpose on this team as they are learning not only basketball but dedication.

Coach Ron Coleman described the 74-75 team as "A talented team of young men. We don't have any super players but we have the most men that can play ball in the Conference—more depth. Consistency is what the team needs more of. Sometimes we look fantastic but other times we make too many mistakes."

The team played more confident ball at home but seemed to lose this confidence at away games. Seniors provided the leadership and skill the team needed this year. Freshmen and sophomores proved valuable as intermediate men, capable of replacing the first string whenever necessary.

It was a good season for Paul Akridge who played outstanding defensive ball and proved capable of accurate outside shooting.

Bobby Clark was determined this year and made history for Campbellsville during the last few seconds of the Georgetown game as he made both free-throws good and won 70-69.

Gerald Joiner, a favorite with the fans, was valuable for his leadership and his attitudes about playing. A high scorer and a threat to opposition he was invaluable to the 74-75 team.

Phil Gowdy continued to surprise the crowds with his quickness and consistency. His accuracy for those "way-out" shots was evident again this year.

Ron Spry can handle a basketball! He played smooth and quick ball and made an outstanding contribution to the Tiger line-up.

Tiger Basketball this year was great!

Tiger fans were proud!

There is novelty in being an underclassman—a freshness of spirit at trying new things. A first is meeting the demands of cooperation—in clubs, dorms, classes, or sports. Underclassmen met the challenge. And although there were a lot of general education classes to pull through extracurricular activities were great!

Campbellsville's chief asset is her students. Upperclassmen here represent a seriousness toward learning which is essential to our campus.

A transition often occurs with a student between his sophomore and junior years. Values are rearranged and academics and years after graduation grow in importance. Devoting most of his time to his chosen field an upperclassman feels more of a responsibility toward himself and his professors.

Acknowledgements

On behalf of the yearbook staff I would like to personally thank a few people who helped to make this book possible.

Thank you, James Bradbury for stepping in and helping to provide pictures at a very critical time.

Thank-you, John Helwig for your interest and willingness to help with lay-outs and pictures.

Thank-you, Dave Forman, for your cooperation in providing the staff with extra pictures and the use of your files.

Thank-you, Dr. Doty, for your concern exemplified through your help and encouragement.

Through working on this book I have become closely associated with almost every facet of Campbellsville College and I believe in what we are doing here. I believe that there are teachers here who care about students. I believe that there are students here who care about learning.

My hope is that we are learning to be people who care very deeply about other people. Because what else is there?
